

Rachel Carson Distinguished Lecture

Finding Beauty in a Broken World: An Ensemble for Earth

the Center for Environmental & Sustainability
Education of FLORIDA GULF COAST UNIVERSITY

by Terry Tempest Williams and Alison Hawthorne Deming

Friday, September 5, 2008, 5:30
Portland Museum of Art
Free and open to the public

Terry Tempest Williams is the Annie Clark Tanner Scholar at the University of Utah. Her books include Refuge and, most recently, Finding Beauty in a Broken World. She is the recipient of Lannan and Guggenheim fellowships in creative nonfiction.

Alison Hawthorne Deming is Professor in Creative Writing at the University of Arizona. She is the author of several books, including The Monarchs: A Poem Sequence and Writing the Sacred into the Real. Her writing has won fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and a Pushcart Prize.

For information: (239) 590-7166 or www.fgcu.edu/cese