

Botanical supplements and herbal remedies: Not as safe as you think!

Dr. James MacGregor, D.A.B.T and
Dr. Judith MacGregor

Did you know that current laws require only minimal or no safety testing of many herbal remedies, botanical supplements, and organic foods? Additionally, the composition of botanical products is often undefined and illegal adulteration is rampant. Join Dr. James MacGregor, toxicologist, former director of research and testing at the FDA, and author of “A Natural Mistake”, as he unwraps some of the mystery around the regulation and safety of supplements. After the STEMinar, there will be Q&A with Dr. James and Dr. Judith MacGregor, also an internationally recognized toxicologist, to discuss opportunities for students and professionals in this field.
