

OVERVIEW

Honors Faculty Fellows are scholars who exemplify the Elements of Honors through their teaching, service, and leadership. Honors Fellows are full-time, in-unit FGCU faculty members who teach the equivalent of six credits for the Honors College per academic year as part of their annual in-load teaching duties. This is typically one three-hour course in the Fall and Spring semesters.

Note: Being selected as an Honors Faculty Fellow does not change a faculty member's Fall 2022 teaching assignment. The first in-load teaching for the Honors College begins in Spring 2023 and continues each semester through Spring 2025.

Note: Courses taught as a Faculty Fellow are selected and assigned by the Honors College, not the faculty member's home department.

APPLICATION

Applications to become an Honors Faculty Fellow consist of:

1. a hard copy of this form;
2. a cover letter explaining your ability to contribute to the Honors College as a Faculty Fellow, including what courses you could teach as a Fellow;
3. a current Curriculum Vitae.

Completed applications should be endorsed by the faculty member's Department Head and submitted to the applicant's Dean's office by no later than 5:00 PM on March 16, 2022. The Dean's office should submit endorsed applications to the Honors College office (Reed 155) no later than 5:00 PM on April 1, 2022.

The applicant's Department Head and Dean have the prerogative to endorse or not endorse this application. If the application is not endorsed at any stage of the process, then it will not be considered by the Honors College. All applications endorsed at the departmental and college levels will be evaluated by the Honors Executive Board, a faculty advisory board.

COVER LETTER

Before composing your cover letter, please review the Honors Faculty Fellows website to learn about the Fellows' duties, eligibility, and criteria for selection: <https://www2.fgcu.edu/Honors/fellows-honors.html>. Your cover letter should address how your professional experiences directly relate to the criteria by which Fellows will be selected. Please include possible courses you could develop to teach as a Faculty Fellow. Applicants are also encouraged to review the Honors College's curriculum and the Five Elements of Honors, as well as other facets of the Honors College. These can be found on the Honors College website at www.fgcu.edu/honors

HONORS COLLEGE FACULTY FELLOW APPLICATION

Name: _____ Title: _____

UIN: _____ E-mail: _____

Program: _____ Highest Degree: _____

Department and College: _____

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

Before endorsing this Application, all signees should review the Honors Faculty Fellows website to learn about the Fellow’s duties and responsibilities: <http://www.fgcu.edu/Honors/fellows-honors.html>

By signing below, I hereby agree that if selected as an Honors Faculty Fellow, this applicant will teach the equivalent of 6 credits per year in the Honors College as part of his or her assigned teaching duties for the next three academic years (2022-23 through 2024-2025, excluding Fall 2022). The Fellow will also perform significant service within the Honors College, which should be treated as university-wide service when considered for evaluation or promotion. The Fellow will not have a professional sabbatical during the three years of service as a Faculty Fellow. Courses taught as a Faculty Fellow are selected and assigned by the Honors College, not the faculty member’s home department.

Applicant Signature _____ Title _____ Date _____

Immediate Supervisor’s Signature _____ Title _____ Date _____

Applicant’s Dean’s Signature _____ Title _____ Date _____

Honors Director’s Signature (will be signed upon receipt of application) _____ Date _____